

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Kyyba, Inc. Named As Finalist in “The Company of The Year” Category at Inaugural North American Employee Engagement Awards

Winners to be announced at ceremony on June 17 in New York City

New York – May 20, 2015 – Kyyba, Inc., a global staffing firm, announced today it is a finalist for the inaugural Employee Engagement Awards’ (EE Awards) in “The Company of the Year” category. Winners, who will be selected by an exclusive panel of judges, will be announced during a ceremony on Wednesday, June 17 at Tribeca 360 and Rooftop in New York City. There, businesses that strive for the extraordinary and put their workforce at the heart of its operation will be recognized.

“It is truly exciting to be named as a finalist for Company of the Year by the inaugural Employee Engagement Awards,” said Kyyba President and CEO Tel Ganesan. “It is a testament to Kyyba’s trust in its people power and constant employee engagement practices in all areas of business.”

The ceremony will follow a daylong conference where attendees will share insights, strategies and tools from inspiring leaders and remarkable peers and deliver best practice advice. Furthermore, the event will bring together a community of employee engagement professionals that wish to learn more and share their experiences, driving the engagement agenda forward.

Jamie Lawrence, editor of online HR publication HRZone.com, who is co-producing the awards, said, “Our shortlist is defined by a common trait: commitment and drive towards creating an environment that is employee-centric and which focuses on improving the experience for everyone who comes into contact with the organization.

We are delighted to showcase the work of these companies and look forward to celebrating with them in June.”
